Dometic divests seating and chassis component business

Dometic Group ("Dometic"), the global market leader in solutions for mobile living, has entered an agreement to sell the seating and chassis component business of its subsidiary Atwood Mobile Products ("Atwood") to Lippert Components, Inc. ("LCI"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Drew Industries Incorporated. The divestment includes a production site in Elkhart, Indiana. Sales of the divested business for 2015 were approximately USD 30 million.

"The sale of the seating and chassis components business is another result of our active portfolio management, with the aim to create a more focused and competitive Dometic. We have a suitable buyer in LCI, as this business fits with their current offering. For Dometic, this means that we will be able to further increase our focus and develop our world-leading position in the core areas Climate, Hygiene & Sanitation and Food & Beverage", said Roger Johansson, President and CEO of Dometic.

The selling price is USD 12.5 million, which will be paid in cash. This transaction will trigger a write-down mainly relating to intangible assets of USD 3.0-3.5 million, which will be recorded in the fourth quarter results. The transaction is expected to be completed in November 2016.
