Dometic launches new darkening system for Ford Transit V363

Düsseldorf, Germany – August 27, 2022

Dometic launches a custom-fit darkening system for a popular campervan model, the Ford Transit V363 (facelift models from 2019 onwards). Consisting of an aluminum-coated roller blind for the windscreen and a set of double-pleated blinds for the side windows, the all-around solution provides excellent privacy, sun protection and thermal insulation at the campsite. Quick and easy to install, the retrofit products match the look and convenience of a factory-fitted darkening system.

At this year's Caravan Salon show, Dometic will be presenting new Dometic FR 400, custom-fit darkening system. The new system gives the owners of a Ford Transit V363 a smart and aesthetical solution to improve the privacy inside their camper and maintain a comfortable temperature. The custom-made aluminum-coated windscreen roller blind provides effective thermal insulation or cool shade as required. It can be adjusted bottom-up to three defined positions: open, privacy or closed. The privacy position offers a unique benefit: Travelers can watch outside without being seen inside.

Unlike similar products available in the market, the FR 400 can be installed in a matter of minutes. There's no need to disassemble and scrap any components. The robust roller blind fits all Ford Transit V363 facelift models available since July 2019, with or without central rear mirror, left- and right-hand drives. It is however not suitable for vehicles with folding beds, parcel shelves, head-up displays or optionally installed A-pillar airbags.

The windscreen blind is complemented with the Dometic SP 400 side window darkening system, also specially designed for all Ford Transit V363 facelift models. Tailor-made for the popular camper van, it fits snugly into the side windows, where it looks just like an original feature installed in the factory. The double-pleated honeycomb material of the side window blinds is 100 % light-tight, ensuring effective darkening as well as optimal insulation against heat and cold. Installation is quick and easy. The frame holding the blind can simply be attached to the window. No need to disassemble any door components.

In addition to the new Ford Transit darkening system, Dometic also offers smart darkening solutions for all currently available Fiat Ducato campers (V8 and previous models) as well as their sister models Peugeot Boxer and Citroën Jumper.
